

Be part of a bigger picture...

...and forge the future of architecture and the built environment

www.ribapedia.com

Official launch on 15 August 2008

Keep your eyes open for RIBApedia
- an innovative new resource for studying and research from the RIBA
Research and Development Department.

A collaborative free source of information for researchers, practitioners, students, academics, and information professionals. Web pages that anyone can build on.

- Study guidance and reading lists
- Research papers and study venues
- Research and study awards
- Profiles of research institutions, funding bodies, and practices engaged in research
- Profiles of schools of architecture - courses, specialisms, bursaries, and awards
- Profiles of professional societies including student societies and discounted student membership
- Links to research and study blogs, journals, and online databases
- Invaluable guidance on obtaining research funding (including worldwide travel scholarships).